designs were made for a 3,300-meter-long runway on a former German airfield, probably at Luckau-Alteno. The direction of the prospective runway was not yet known.

Comment. A former German auxiliary airfield is located 6 km east of Luckau, near 130°47'30"E/51°52'20"N. The field formerly covered an area of about 800 x 1,000 meters. A spur track which had formerly extended to the southwestern corner of the field was apparently removed. The buildings in the northern and southwestern sections of the field were gutted by fire. The field is now covered with grass. The present report is the first indication of intended improvement work at Luckau-Alteno airfield.
